

Sport Matters IDSDP 2016 Campaign

Let's play for the Sustainable Development Goals

TERMS & CONDITIONS

Submissions

To participate in Sport Matters social media campaign for the 3rd International Day of Sport for Development and Peace visit www.sportmatters.org.au, complete the online form on the IDSDP page with the required information including your city, country and finish the sentence “Sport matters to me because ...” .

Tick the box if you wish to have your name, organisation and location posted with your comment.

Do not tick that box if you do not want your name, organisation or location shared publically.

Join the campaign between Monday 4 April 2016 and Friday 8 April 2016.

The campaign is seeking messages of support that highlight ‘Why Sport Matters’ for development and peace. By this we mean the use of sport with purpose towards broader development objectives. Those objectives might include for example: health; education; economic development; gender equity; disability inclusion; disaster; peace; or the environment.

Sport is defined as all forms of physical activity that contribute to physical fitness, mental wellbeing and social interaction. These include: play; recreation; organised; casual or competitive sport; and indigenous sports or games.

There is no fee for participating and comments and submissions are welcome from any country in the world. Supporters may make multiple submissions and there is no limit on the number of entries per person.

Comments will be reviewed by Sport Matters and selected contributions will appear in the IDSDP Campaign.

By entering the Sport Matters IDSDP 2016 Campaign you agree to these Terms and Conditions on the Sport Matters - IDSDP page.

Photograph Requirements

For Sport Matters Champions, media partners, program partners and invited friends, the IDSDP Campaign 2016 is aligned with the United Nations Office of Sport for Development and Peace (UNOSDP) I Play for SDG initiative. Photographs must be digital in a Jpeg (JPG) format along with a photo credit, an organisations logo and caption of 100 words or less.

Dedicated photos with IDSDP Campaign submission that are received via email to info@sportmatters.org.au by Wednesday 6 April will be shared on Sport Matters Facebook, Twitter and website.

Photographs may include images of the person or persons submitting the quote (for example from an athlete champion, sport for development program, or an organisation's staff and volunteers). Please ensure appropriate permission is sought from any person/people that appear in your photo, including permission from parents/guardians for any children under the under of 18.

In accordance with section C.1.3 of the Australian Council for International Development (ACFID) Code of Conduct the use of images and messages portraying women and men, boys and girls must respect the dignity, values, history, religion and culture of the people portrayed.

Further information on the ACFID Code of Conduct is available at www.acfid.asn.au.

Image Protection and Use

All images remain the property of the photographer and supporters retain copyright over each of their images. Sport Matters reserves the right to use quotes, photos and captions in the promotion of sport for development and peace activities in Australia and overseas via social media, www.sportmatters.org.au website and in publications and reports.

By entering this campaign, all supporters agree to release, discharge and hold harmless Sport Matters and its partners, affiliates and agents from any claims, losses and damages arising out of their participation in this IDSDP 2016 social media campaign.

Personal data will be used and stored in connection with the IDSDP2016 campaign. Further information on Sport Matters Privacy and Security Policy, and Child Protection Policy is available at www.sportmatters.org.au.
